MORRIS & SPOTTISWOOD RAISE MORE THAN £300 FOR THE SHANNON BRADSHAW TRUST

Morris & Spottiswood directors swapped their mobile phones and laptops for buckets of soapy water and sponges recently to raise £370 for the Shannon Bradshaw Trust.

The company, based at Leacroft Road in Birchwood, which specialises in fit out and maintenance services, will be raising money for the charity during 2008 and decided a directors' car wash would be a great way to kick off the year-long series of events.

"Everyone is keen to support a charity that is on our doorstep and that helps so many local families," says Morris & Spottiswood chief executive, Chris Saxton. "We work right across the North West and this is our way of giving something back to the community in which we are based. We all had great fun washing the cars and judging by the laughter, everyone enjoyed watching us too."

The Shannon Bradshaw Trust raises money to help children with life threatening conditions and their families. It was founded by Patti and Alan Bradshaw following the death of their daughter, Shannon, in 2002, who died, aged seven, from Aplastic Anaemia.
